SENATORS DEMANDING TO KNOW INSIDE DETAILS OF IMMENSE LOANS TO VARIOUS FOREIGN NATIONS BY TREASURY DEPT.

Secretary Houston, Parrying Off Inquiry Declares It Would be Unfortunate to Publicly Produce All Correspondence and Details Between That Department and Foreign Governments.

TESTIFIES "CONFIDENTIALLY" TODAY

WASHINGTON, February 8.—Two elements in the United States Senate "went to the mat" today over the issue of American loans to the Allies.

Secretary Houston appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to testify "confidentially" on European financial obligations to the United States.

Houston's appearance was the signal for the inauguration of the drive led by Senator Read of Missouri to force the publicity of the Treasury Department dealings with the Allies. Supporting Reed was Senators Smith of Georgia and Walsh of Massachusetts. The latter is the author of a resolution demanding full information on American-European loan negotiations.

"It would be unfortunate," Houston said today, "if we were to produce publicly everything which has passed thru the Treasury Department and the Allied governments. It would not be wise to go into everything," he said.

BRITISH AUTHORITY ON FINANCE SAYS UNCLE SAM IS LOAN SHARK. DECLARES EUROPE IS IN CLUTCHES OF U. S. NOW

LONDON, February 8.—Uncle Sam was pictured in Great Britain today as a loan shark.

J. Taylor Peddie, an authority on finance, observed that the Continent must awaken before the United States flaps Europe in her clutches.

"Europe is in her power just as completely as the poor victim of a loan shark," he declared in an interview given the United Press.

"If the United States cancels Europe's debt the situation will be eased somewhat. If she does then Europe will sink rapidly into ruin because she will have to live off her capital. Opposition to cancellation in the United States arises from lack of knowledge of her economic conditions. An investigation will show the necessity for passing up temporary gains for future securities," he said.

EXPECT EARLY CAPTURE OF FOURTEEN MEN WHO KIDNAPPED MISS ANNA KING

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 8.—Police here today said they expected the New York authorities would capture the kidnapers of Miss Anna King, maid in Lewis Alhons home here, who was abducted by 14 armed raiders. Police headquarters here said that they had identified the leader of the raiders but that his name would be withheld pending search for him and the girl.

CHANCES FOR GETTING A JURY TO TRY HATFIELDS LOOKING BETTER TODAY

WILLIAMSON, W. VA., February 8.—With 28 tentative jurors in the box, the work of pruning down to the required 12 was under way here today in the trial of Sid Hatfield and 20 others charged with the killing of seven private detectives. Attorneys believed the selection of a jury will be accomplished shortly. Judge Bailey ordered all witnesses to be in court at the noon session. The court ruled that remote relationship does not disqualify a juror from service.

HOUSE PASSES ARMY APPROPRIATION BILLS

WASHINGTON, February 8.—The House today passed the army appropriations bill carrying $328,681,000 after rejecting the amendments to reduce the number of commissioned officers. It now goes to the Senate.

AMERICAN LEGION INSIGNIA PROTECTED BY LAW

HARRISBURG, Feb. 8.—The American Legion bill making it unlawful to wear the insignia without membership was passed without opposition. The bonus bill was recommitted to the Committee on Military Affairs while the Armistice Day bill is still in committee. The insignia bill is the first American Legion bill to pass the House. The Bernshell bill giving the preference in civil service examinations to soldiers, sailors and marines passed on second reading today.

RAILROAD MEN AGREE TO NEW CONDITIONS

Meadville, Feb. 8.—To prevent actual discharge of approximately 400 men from the shops of the Erie Railroad, a plan to work only four days a week instead of six has been tentatively agreed to by employees and railroad officials here.

Ninety per cent of the men involved in the lay-off have agreed to sacrifice the extra two days' pay for the benefit of the other less fortunate men who would be dropped.

The Erie shops in this town employ in normal times about 1,500 men. Several hundred were laid off recently. The four day week plan was proposed by the railroad as a means of curtailing operating expenses during the present period of depression.

Not all of the men who have agreed to the four day week are ready to accept this plan at once, it was stated by representatives of the employees. They say it is an attempt to intimidate and coerce them to voluntarily agree to lower wages.

If they are convinced the reduction in force is necessary, it was pointed out, they will be willing to cut their own pay to save the 30 per cent who would be forced to go.

BOROUGH COUNCIL HEARS NEEDS OF BOARD OF HEALTH

Eight of the twelve members of council were present at last night's regular meeting and considerable business was transacted. President of Council Fletcher presided and Burgess John M. Chase was also present.

The burgess reported nine arrests for December with the collection of $20 in fines.

Secretary Gaulin of the board of health presented the budget agreed upon by the board of health for 1921 totaling $1,884. The different items making up the budget were as follows:

Tacks	$ 1.00
Postoffice box	5.00
Jinney	17.00
Postage	10.00
Telephone	25.00
Ply trap repairs and bait	20.00
Uniform	50.00
Printing and stationery	89.00
Fumigating material	405.30
Disinfecting material	10.00
Guards	510.00
Secretary and health officer	1,000.00
Drugs	75.00
Doctors' fees	30.00
Milk inspection	130.00
Total	$1,884.00

After some discussion the budget was approved and the required appropriation authorized by council.

Imery Hummel, Martin street, was present and entered vigorous complaint regarding a cow stable near his house. The health officer was directed to take the matter up with the owner and have condition

PRESIDENT HOWATT OF KANSAS MINERS PUT UNDER ARREST

Called a Strike Which the State Officials Declare Is In Violation of The Industrial Court Code.

WILL LIKELY BE TEST CASE

Pittsburg, Kan., Feb. 8.—District Judge A. J. Curran late yesterday issued attachments for the immediate arrest of Alexander Howatt, president of the Kansas coal miners, and for all of the members of the district executive board of the union.

The order for the arrest of the union officials was made on application of Richard Hopkins, state attorney general.

Howatt was arrested immediately and brought into the district court room. When he was arraigned before Judge Curran he admitted he had called the strike.

"Whether it is a violation of the court order is for the court to say," Howatt added.

Vice President Torchy, brought into the court with Howatt, simply said in part, "I am guilty."

Willard Titus, a board member, also was haled before the judge. They were released on their recognizance and ordered to appear in court this afternoon.

The court action is the outgrowth of a strike in two mines in the Pittsburg field, which resulted from a controversy of the miners' union with the mine owners over the age of a miner.

The attorney general contended that the strike was in violation of the injunction issued last Summer by Judge Curran and that therefore the miners' officials were in contempt of court. It was asserted that the calling of the strike was in the nature of a test of strength between the Howatt forces and the Kansas industrial court.

FED TURNIPS AND WORKED LIKE HORSE, WIFE'S CHARGE

Seranton, Feb. 8.—Edna May Wardell, of Moscow, in divorce court before Judge Maxey Friday, charged that her husband, Ambrose Wardell, harnessed her to a cultivator on the farm and made her live all last winter on turnips.

Frank E. Boyle, attorney for the woman, called a former wife of Wardell. She testified that she got a divorce after Wardell put her in harness on the cultivator.

N. Y. C. FURNISHED TRAIN TO MADERA FIRE FREIGHT FREE

On the occasion of the recent disastrous fire at Madera the Clearfield fire department was furnished a train by the late Trainmaster M. J. Quigley and was especially well taken care of both in the manner of equipment supplied and the promptness in which the train was supplied by the railroad people. Following the fire Mayor John M. Chase took the matter of payment for the train up with Superintendent McCormick of the Pennsylvania division of the New York Central and received the following reply:

Corning, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1921.
Mr. John M. Chase,
Burgess, Clearfield, Pa.
Dear Sir:

Referring to the recent fire at Madera when we moved your fire department from Clearfield to that point and return in order for you to assist the inhabitants at Madera in extinguishing the fire at that point on January 14.

It is with pleasure that I can advise you that permission has been granted so that the movement of your fire department on January 1 was made without cost whatsoever.

Yours truly,
F. E. McCormack.

Superintendent McCormack and the New York Central people have always been very obliging and generous when calls of this kind have been received by the local fire department and their courtesy and generosity is very much appreciated by the people of this region.

MARRIED SATURDAY EVENING

Herman Palmer, of Woodland, and Hazel Jury, of Clearfield, were united in marriage at the West Side Methodist Episcopal parsonage Saturday evening last. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. C. Snively, the pastor.

Editor E. F. Whitmer of the Madera Times, transacted business in Clearfield today.

Mrs. Leona Moore, of Curwensville, was in Clearfield on business yesterday.

GOOD LUCK TO YOU, DOC

Dr. Harold McKean, formerly with the Stewart Drug Company of this city, recently purchased the Wilson block at Knox, Pa., where he is conducting an up-to-date pharmacy. The building consists of two modern store rooms and two nicely appointed six room apartments. His Clearfield friends hope that the general pill roller will wax wealthy and fat.

BRINDELL, CROOKED LEADER IN GOTHAM BUILDING TRADES WILL SERVE NOT LESS THAN FIVE YEARS IN SING SING CELL

NEW YORK, February 8.—Robert Brindell, the "Czar" of building contracts, today was sentenced to not less than 5 years and not more than 10 years at hard labor in Sing Sing by Judge McAvoy in criminal court here today. Brindell was convicted of extortion in connection with building contracts in New York City.

Robert Brindell, head of the Building Trust in New York City and the man whom every contractor had to pay tribute to before he was privileged to take or start a building job in that city, and who had recently been convicted of extortion, conspiracy, etc., will spend the next five years in Ossining. Brindell was the head and front of an organization which absolutely controlled the sale of all building materials and building contracts and exacted millions from the people of the greater city before the recent expose of their methods. Brindell was affiliated with certain labor leaders and the organization he represented became so exacting in its demands that construction work in New York was finally brought to a stand still.

The recent Wall street explosion in which more than two score lives were lost was said to have been due to rival cliques in the organization over which Brindell presided.

COURT NOTES

Baulton and Forsythe began divorce proceedings in Prothonotary Ralston's office yesterday on behalf of Oscar Lawhead, who is seeking a divorce from Antonio Lawhead, whom he married March 27, 1910, and who it is alleged, deserted him September 1, 1918.

The same attorneys entered similar action on behalf of John T. Harrington, who asks to be divorced from Beatrice Harrington, who deserted her home after a married life extending from December 24, 1903, until November 27, 1917.

Francisco Stello, of the Fourth ward, was arrested Sunday on complaint of East End citizens on a charge of indecent exposure. He was taken before Burgess Chase and paid a borough fine for disorderly conduct after a night in the lockup and was then given a hearing before Squire Chorpennig and held in $500 bail for court.

Stello's friends rallied to his support, Sam Tony acting as his attorney before the justice. When Sam propounded a hypothetical question to Blanchard Rupert, the chief witness for the commonwealth, Rupert refused to answer and gave the "attorney" a piece of his mind. Justice Chorpennig diplomatically handled the situation and peace reigned.

HARDING MAKES BIG HIT WITH OUTLAW WHO HAS REFORMED

By Raymond Clapper

Daytona, Fla., Feb. 8.—"Harding is a good every day sort of a human being," Bob Dalton, survivor of the famous Dalton gang, said today, describing President-elect Harding after a meeting between them here. Dalton, now owner of a hotel here, of Harding's party on their arrival "You can tell by looking at him that he is a real lovable man," Dalton said.

The ex-outlaw, a nephew of the famous Younger brothers, lives two blocks from Mrs. A. H. Kling, Mrs. Harding's stepmother.

Although Dalton is in his fiftieth year he looks little more than 35 and his ruddy unlined face shows no trace of the stirring episodes he has gone through including being on trial for life 13 times and serving 10 years in prison. He was pardoned by President Roosevelt in 1907.

Kindness in Business.

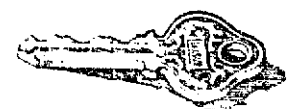

It is a great privilege to have an opportunity many times a day, in the course of your business, to do a kindness which is not to be paid for. Graciousness or demeanor is a large part of the duty of any official person who comes in contact with the world. Where a man's business is, there is the place for his religion to manifest itself.—Helps.

PROPER TIME TO PREPARE GARDEN

A Few Well-Cared-For Hotbed Sashes Are Good Money Makers on Any Farm.

COVER CROP IMPROVES SOIL

All Rubbish, Dead Vines or Plants, Stakes and Poles Should Be Cleared Away and Ground Planted to a Green Crop.

Whether it is conducted on an extensive scale to supply the market or whether it is to produce food for the family the garden plot is likely to be the most profitable acreage on the farm. Gardening really starts in the fall. When the last vegetables have been removed and stored the prudent gardener sets about to prepare the ground for the next year's crop.

Clearing Away Rubbish.
Any rubbish, dead vines or plants, and bean poles or tomato stakes should be cleared away, says the United States Department of Agriculture, and the ground sown to rye or some other green crop to prevent the loose earth from washing under the winter rains. A cover crop also improves the physical condition of the soil. When a cover crop cannot be supplied the next best thing that may be done is to plow or spade the soil and allow it to lie rough throughout the winter. This practice destroys many insects that lie just below the surface. The winter frosts have a lightening effect upon the soil, especially on clay soils.

The earliest and choicest vegetables are harvested by the man who maintains a few hotbed sashes and uses them to start his garden. He is able to handicap the frost line by several weeks, and to set strong, well-developed plants in his garden at a time when his neighbors are planting seed.

The farm income is at its lowest point in the early spring, but it can be increased considerably by the sale of young plants grown in hotbeds and ready for transplanting. Tomato, cabbage, eggplant and pepper plants are always snapped up when the first warm planting days come, and they are easily grown in the hotbed. A little more space and a little more seed than the grower needs for his own use are likely to bring good profits. Before the ground freezes in the fall is a good time to clean out the old hotbeds.

Unless the soil used in the hotbed is to be exchanged for fresh earth it should be shoveled from the bed and tossed into a pile nearby. The decayed manure from the bottom is scattered over the pile and thoroughly mixed with it to form rich soil for next year's beds. Over this goes a coat of straw or leaves held down by bits of board to keep it from blowing.

Some farmers find it convenient to use evergreen boughs instead of straw for the outer covering.

Preparation of Hotbed.
Now hotbed pits should be dug so that they will face the south, and the location should be selected so that the beds will be protected from the cold north winds and late spring storms. Sometimes the earth taken from the new pit is suitable for use in the hotbed, but this is the exception rather than the rule. A few loads of leaf mold from the woods mixed with the natural soil will often form a smooth, rich, stoneless mass which gives an ideal hotbed filler.

The back or north side of the frame is usually from 12 to 18 inches high, while the south end is about eight inches, so that the whole bed may have pitch enough to get the sun upon all parts. The standard hotbed sash is handled by most dealers, and measures three feet in width and six feet in length. A frame just wide enough to support the sash seems to be the most satisfactory, though wider beds are sometimes used with supporting ridges placed at six-foot intervals. A well-pointed cypress sash, glazed with a good double-strength glass will set in putty should give the careful gardener 12 to 15 years' service.

Heat for the hotbed is furnished by means of a bed of horse manure 8 to 16 inches thick in the bottom of the pit. Permanent hotbeds are often heated with coils of steam or hot-water pipes under the bed.

Hotbeds require constant care to prevent their becoming overheated, especially during bright weather.

EFFICIENCY OF CORN FOR CATTLE FEEDING

Necessary to Add Proteins to Encourage Growth.

More Rapid Gains Obtained Where Soy Bean or Cottonseed Press Cake Was Added—Experimenting Along This Line.

It has now been known for some years that corn by itself is not an economical cattle feed. The reason for this is that about one-half of the proteins in corn are deficient in some of the essential compounds needed to produce growth. In order to make corn more efficient, it is therefore necessary to mix the corn with other cattle feeds which contain an abundance of those compounds which are lacking in corn. Experiments along this line have recently been carried out by the United States Department of Agriculture. It has been shown that when certain concentrates such as coconut press cake, peanut press cake, soy bean press cake, or cottonseed press cake are added to the corn more rapid growth results and the mixture of proteins is much more efficient and economical than the proteins of corn alone. It is therefore very important that the cattle feeder should so mix his diet that he can get the greatest amount of growth from the least quantity of protein used, since the protein is the most expensive constituent in his feed.

It has been found that about 40 per cent of coconut press cake, or 25 per cent of soy bean press cake or peanut press cake, mixed with corn, furnishes a very efficient diet. It is not safe, however, to add so much cottonseed press cake, since cotton seed is frequently toxic and is ordinarily not fed to cattle in amounts of more than 3 or 4 pounds a day. The experiments which have been performed indicate that when corn is properly mixed with the press cakes mentioned above about twice as much growth can be obtained on a pound of protein from the mixture as on corn protein alone.

CO-OPERATION PAYS FARMERS

Formation of Society in Prentiss County, Miss., Follows Efforts of County Agent.

Co-operative marketing of all kinds of farm produce has been successfully worked out in Prentiss county, Miss.

Buyers formerly went into the county and purchased at their own prices, often 25 per cent below the outside market. The county agent of the United States Department of Agriculture succeeded in getting the farmers to load a car of corn, each farmer's contribution being weighed separately and a record kept by one of the banks. The car netted 25 cents a bushel over previous prices, and the local market rate arose 25 cents as a consequence.

A co-operative shipment of hogs follows, and after several successful experiences the Farmers' Co-operative association of Prentiss county, Miss., was organized and a regular marketing agent employed. This organization did a business of more than $250,000 in 12 months, at prices considerably in advance of those formerly realized. Deposits in two local banks were more than doubled in two years.

Merritt C. Hull, of Newark, N. J., is not as much a believer in signs as he was, at least he is not going to jump at conclusions so readily as he did. A few weeks ago Hull alleged he had a vision by which he was commanded to spread the gospel to the far corners of the country. He did not possess a silver like Alma White, and neither did he have the where-withal to pay railroad fare, so he set himself the task of traveling on foot from Maine to California and back again. He managed to travel as far as Binghamton, N. Y., a distance of 154 miles from Newark, where foot-sore and weary he put up at the Salvation Army barracks. The captain in charge finally convinced Hull the "p. c." he saw in the vision meant
"plant corn" instead of "preaching Christ", and on being furnished with transportation back home Hull gave up his evangelizing campaign and hied back for Jersey.

Not Good for Man to Live Alone

The mortality among bachelors from the ages of thirty to forty-five is 25 per cent; of married men of the same ages but 18 per cent. For every forty-one bachelors who attain the age of forty-three are seventy-eight married men and the difference in ratio increases as age advances.
At the age of sixty there are but twenty-two bachelors alive for forty-eight married men; at seventy years, eleven bachelors for twenty-seven married men, and at eighty years for three bachelors there are nine married men. Still with all that, when these figures were given one of Clearfield's confirmed old "woman haters", he expressed himself as being willing to take the chance and wound up by remarking: "That may be alright, but even at that I would much prefer to be dead than married."

What do you know about a guy like that.

National Prohibition Enforcement Officer John F. Krumer is seeking to help make the country really dry by getting rid of the "cloak".

In the early days in England the punishment for a too-frequent im-bibber was to force him to wear what was known as the "drunkard's cloak".
One application was guaranteed to effect a life cure. The "cloak" was of heavy wood, made in the shape of a huge pail. A small hole in the upper part, similar to the Pilgrim stocks, just fit about the offender's neck. The "cloak" was then locked top and bottom and the habitual drunkard was forced to go about this way until he was ready to sign the pledge.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, who succeeded to the throne of John Alexander Dowie at Zion City, when "Elijah Hid" went to glory, has undertaken the task his predecessor fell down on, namely, the saving of the city of New York from perdition. He promised to take an army of 400 in flowing white robes to help drive the devil out of New York. New Yorkers promise Wilbur Glenn a heluva time while he is at it. His advance agents are already on the job and are making daily reports back to Zion City.

Exactly eighteen years ago Dowie, the predecessor of Voliva, with 3000 followers went to New York to reform the city. He rented Madison Square Garden for a month and put on the most entertaining show New York ever had before or since. There was his "unblessed son," Gladstone Dowie; his wonderful open carriage, called "the chariot" with his four white horses; the uniformed Zion Guard that pulled the interior of the garden; his choir of a thousand voices and last, but not least, Dowie himself, who rightly came down to the edge of the platform and waving his hat at the newspaper writers, yelled,
"Stinkpots! Your newspapers are Dowile's Bibles!"

These suits made from the plain manufacturers. Fifth Avenue win- of embroidery on collar, cuff, dows are very smart with sport pockets and lapels. The embroidery suits developed from both light and is done in heavy wooden beads or heavy weight toweling, barred in metallic disks, as only a very heavy white and banded at peplum, collar, embroidery would show from the and cuffs with gay shades such as thick nap of the goods.

Towel effects are equally good in separate skirts and dresses. The Other models are barred in these skirts are generally cut circular and colors and are very gay indeed when may have a bias band of contrasting worn with little turkish towel tur- color about pockets and the bottom ans to match, with white oxfords of the skirt.

A few color effects as especially noted were jade green barred with flaunting colored faces, and even a handbag to match.

These suits are cut very much as orange, tangerine with black, blue with gold, black and white, purple and taupe, and cherry and black.

Street and sport dresses developed from toweling are often combined with harmonizing or contrasting organic or voile. One striking model is shown of black and white tow-eling combined with cherry organ-die. The organ die is used for the convertible choker collar, a finely tucked vester, and tight leg O'muton skirt. The vester falls over the skirt with hip length front and back panels.

SHALL THE INCURABLY AND VIOLENTLY INSANE BE RELIEVED OF SUFFERINGS

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 8.—The rattle as the form moved, and several of the inmates stepped back in fear and alarm.

Committeemen Scared

The patient towered above the tallest member of the committee, who is nearly six feet in height. Strange noises emitted by the being in the cell sent the timid members scurrying away to safety. All the members afterward admitted feelings of horror and alarm.

Superintendent Wilcox said the man was 50 years old and had been insane for ten years. For five years he had been terribly violent and uncontrollable. It takes three or four men to handle him. Superintendent Wilcox said:

"This case is frightfully distressing, but we can do nothing else to facilitate his care and protect him from doing himself injury. Even manacled as he is he attempted to tear the bars from his cell. His cries at times are fearful. They set the other patients in a panic. In the violent wards his noises create panic and at times."

All Favor Killing

Fully impressed with the distressing case, the legislators turned to seriously considering whether it would not be wise to enact a law permitting the "merciful" killing of such persons.

The talk turned to decision, and the committee will draft a measure to cover the subject. What the people will think of it they were uncertain, but all were agreed that the cause of humanity would be best served by removing such cases from the world.

BUSINESS AND TRADE

With Special Attention to Coal, Clay and Brick Trade News of Local Interest.

Harrisburg, Feb. 8.—Basing their predictions on sales volume, six Harrisburg business men, three wholesalers and three retailers who trade in food, shoes and clothing declared an early return to normal business is close.

That the public is beginning to realize that persistent refusal to buy means so-called hard times, was the opinion of the majority of the men questioned, and a revival of trade in increasing proportions was predicted.

Sales Increasing

"There seems to be little doubt that the grocers are beginning to stock up again," said Charles W. Burdett, of the Evans-Burdett Company, wholesale grocers, "for on every hand we have evidence of increased orders. Increased orders only can mean one thing, and that is increased sales from the stores. The public is regaining confidence in itself and the country."

Similar conditions prevail in the shoe manufacturing business, according to Robert E. Cahill, of the Harrisburg Shoe Manufacturing Company.

"Although we are only operating at present on a seven and one-half hour day, five days a week," said Mr. Cahill this morning, "our output has been on a steady increase since December and we are daily being presented with news from the retailers that their trade is on the increase. We look for a heavy business before the summer."

"Conditions are much the same in the wholesale clothing business," said Joseph Claster, of the Joseph Claster Company, when told of the renewed activity, "and we have already felt the revival here. Although manufacturers are still going a little slow, they are only awaiting the word from the buying public to speed up to full capacity and here in this city the retail clothing stores are evidencing signs of confidence of an early return to normal."

S. S. Pomeroy retail grocer is sure that Summer will see a return to a solid foundation.

"Prices are not stabilized now," said Mr. Pomeroy, "as indicated in the sugar market, which is very uncertain. We are still buying carefully, but I believe that in a short time business will pick up and the public will come to a realization of its part in the wheels of trade."

Cut Prices Deceptive

"Let shoe prices be deceiving the public to a certain extent, I am afraid," said C. J. Crego, retail shoe dealer, "for they imagine that when a shoe dealer sacrifices his stock to unload, the prices he quotes are going to be the standard. That is unfortunately not possible, although I believe that shoe prices will be 25 to 30 per cent lower this Spring. We have signs of increased trade already, with the Easter business just ahead."

"The people are beginning to come back to the stores," said Ben Strouse, of The Globe, "and we feel that not very far away is big business. Today, the sales are bringing tremendous crowds, for the people realize the sacrifice values."

The business men interviewed were chosen at random in an effort to secure an accurate viewpoint of conditions.

L. A. McDowell, formerly cashier of the Snow Shoe State Bank, has resigned his position there and taken up his residence in Clearfield, where he is representing Harper and Turner, investment bankers of Philadelphia, whose line is gilt edged bonds. Mr. McDowell is no stranger to the business men of this community, he having been with the Farmers and Traders Bank of Clearfield and later with the Clearfield Trust Company here. The house that he represents is one of the headliners in bonds and Mr. McDowell is well fitted to take care of its interests here through his lengthy training as a banker.

In the Summerland of Home

ONLY summer is reflected in the frivolous and adorably pretty negligees with which the shops entice inspection of their stocks in these garments. The latest of materials is the most beautiful of colors and all sorts of fancy trimmings lend their help to make up the alluring apparel for the summer of home. Nothing so beautiful as a negligee, but these are a class of more substantial fabrics that come quite close to being really like the very popular morning coats of today in key colors that give the day a light, airy, and cool feeling. These are much more practical than their flimsy sisters, because they are in a trapezoid and can be worn over a long-sleeved dress or a long-sleeved blouse.

MEALS FOR THE CHILDREN.

There is much on the grownups' tables which should never be given to children and the custom of having them served away from the temptation of such food is followed in most families.

The mother who takes time to study her child will in her general reading and conversation with other mothers learn many attractive ways of serving the common foods that are included in her children's diet.

Any ripe fruit or dried stewed fruit, mashed until fine and stirred through cereal such as oatmeal, cream of wheat or corn meal well cooked will make a pleasant change from the ordinary serving of cereal.

A different arrangement of the food, a new dish, a garnish of some well-liked food will often be an appetizer for a flagging appetite. Our stockmen tell us that the young animal should never stop growing and they see to it that they don't for it means an increase in profits. How much more important is it that the little human animal be fed so that there may be no weak places in the body structure to appear in later life?

Some say our states will look after the feeding of our children who are to do the world's work, with as much expenditure of funds and energy as they do now on the stock, valuable as that is.

Wage Successful War on Pest.

The worst enemy of the grape growers in California is a minute insect called the "thunder fly," because it appears in greatest numbers in hot and sultry weather, when thunder storms are frequent. A man out there has invented a suction apparatus, with a ten-horsepower blower, that is placed on wheels and driven through the vineyards, harvesting the pests from the vines as it goes along. It is said to work very successfully.

Remove an Obsolete Spot.

No matter what the cure excited unsightly spots will appear on dresses and the tailor-made seems to be their delight. The Sphere (London) gives the following instructions as to their removal: A piece of cloth—the same as that of which the garment is made—should be saturated with hot water and then the soiled surface should be briskly rubbed with it. The most obstinate spot will disappear—that is, it says, if it is not a stain that has taken the color from the cloth.

The ordinance providing for the assessment of the cost of building the West Locust Lane sewer was presented to council but returned to the engineer for correction in order that council might assume the cost of construction for the street and alley the sewer crosses.

An ordinance providing for an increase in the fine for drunkenness, disorderly conduct, fighting, etc., and fixing the maximum fine for such offenses at $100 with a lockup or jail sentence of from 5 to 30 days, was read to council and unanimously adopted.

PRODUCE SELLING ON ROADSIDE IN FAVOR

Higher Prices Being Received by New York Farmers.

One Farmer Disposed of Practically All His Fruits and Vegetables Direct to Consumers—Middlemen Eliminated.

Despite the fall slump in produce prices, a number of farmers in the vicinity of New York are receiving higher prices for their produce than ever before.

One of these farmers located 20 miles from New York on a main highway, has written Secretary of Agriculture Meredith urging him to encourage roadside selling of farm produce direct to consumers at the farm. This farmer stated that he had disposed of practically all of his fruits and vegetables in this way, people coming from quite a distance to make purchases. "Everything except some corn was sold right at the gate," he wrote, "and at better than city prices in many instances. The consumers have received their fruit and vegetables absolutely fresh and there have been no middlemen to absorb part of the profits."

There are hundreds of individual roadside markets throughout the country that are achieving similar success, say specialists of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture. Of course, it could not be recommended that farmers abandon their regular marketing channels to take up this plan of marketing, but there are many instances where farmers located near consuming centers and on main highways over which there is some volume of traffic might dispose of considerable produce by displaying at their gates signs containing a list of the articles they have for sale.

Freely Conceded.

"I freely concede," remarks some one, "any good points he may have." Thus virtuous, he proceeds with the burden of his story, which is the extremely bad points of the person discussed. What does his "conceding" amount to? Nothing at all except a ruse to deceive himself, to make himself believe he is playing fair. If you are going to concede some good point you ought in all fairness to name them over. Perhaps at the end of the catalog, you will be a little more modest about the enormity of the offense you are mainly interested in.—Milwaukee Journal.

Toilet of Ant Complicated.

There is no creature of the animal kingdom which is more particular as to personal cleanliness than the ant, which can not tolerate the presence of dirt on its body. These little creatures actually use a number of real toilet articles in keeping themselves clean. A well-known authority says their toilet articles consist of coarse and fine-toothed combs, hair brushes, sponges and even washes and soap. Their combs, however, differ from ours mainly in that they are fastened to their legs. The ants have no set time for their toilet operations, but clean up whenever they get soiled.

"WAY DOWN EAST"

D. W. Griffith

A second viewing of this remarkable photodrama made us realize, perhaps more vividly than before, what the Shakespeare of the screen can create from a commonplace story like "Way Down East." But it has, like many other productions of art, a few faults that, obviously enough, passed unnoticed to the average motion picture devotee. Fundamentally, Griffith is pro-action, rather than pro-idea, and this quality evidences itself in his picturization of Lottie Blair Parker's famous play. When he brings forth a photoplay in which the idea is dominant, his art will know no bounds. As it is, "Way Down East" is a great spectacle. The sight of the wronged girl lying insensible on a small cake of ice which is rushing toward the brink of the falls, and the desperate chase of David over the rapidly disintegrating floor in pursuit of Anna are alone enough to insure the success of the picture. The atmosphere is wonderful throughout, and the beauty and balm of summer on the Bartlett farm are brought out with exquisite reality. Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, and Lowell Sherman are incomparable in their roles; indeed the entire cast is uniformly excellent. It is our earnest wish that sooner or later, every person in Clearfield will be given an opportunity to see "Way Down East."

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

Paramount

Roscoe Arbuckle's second venture into the realm of polite comedy is a lively and enjoyable picturization of George Barr McCutcheon's novel "Brewster's Millions." Arbuckle is too clever an artist to let his public miss his slap-stick comedy; instead, he reveals hitherto unknown powers as a genuine comedian, and introduces his inimitable house-play in a subdued manner. Monte Brewster is a youth who is cursed with two millionaire uncles, each of whom persists in taking entire charge of their nephew. A quarrel estranges the two old men and Monte is left to shift for himself until a gift of two million dollars arrives from Uncle No. 1 on his twenty-fifth birthday. A better proposition from Uncle No. 2 follows, provided Monte spends his two million within the year, and tell no one his intention in doing so. From thereon the fun is fast and furious. Arbuckle plays Monte as a baby and as a little boy, and in these scenes he is screamingly funny.

"HIS OWN LAW"

Goldwyn

That big human being, Hobart Bosworth, gives a powerful characterization as MacNeir, the fighting engineer, in this extremely original photoplay. The play is constructed about a stirring plot, revolving about the lives of two striking characters, and the main theme is a man's sacrifice for his friend. A love story is involved—a battle of hearts. The scenes and the photography are especially worthy of mention.

Flegal's Store News

This, like every other time, is no time for untrue advertising. Like dishonesty, it's the wrong policy.

One merchant, eager to unload, over-anxious to impress the public, advertises a $1,000,000 sale.

A zealous city official compares his advertisement with a tax report just filed and finds $750,000 missing in the tax statement. Much embarrassment and considerable unpleasant publicity for the retailer.

Another merchant, disregarding his long established principles of honesty, advertises hats at $6. A customer enters to buy one and is offered a hat at $15. He demands the $6 hat and after seeing two at $12 is offered the very same hat first shown at $15. Result—no sale and one old-time customer lost.

The same merchant advertises neckwear at $2.85 reduced from $4.50—and a month later puts the same goods on sale at $4.85 "marked down from $7"? Result—city-wide gossip more costly than the entire neckwear stock.

Honest advertising and truthful merchandising—the only tracks that lead to the city of Permanent Prosperity.

Flegal's for honest advertising—honest merchandise—Furnishings, Suits, Overcoats—always honest prices—always marked in plain English—always guaranteed by maker and Flegal's. Just now everybody says "the cheapest clothing in town" and they are right.

Now and always STRICTLY MARKET PRICE. Shop all over town; if you do you will buy at Flegal's.

THE TRUTH ABOUT Bulgarian Blood Tea

Bulgarian Blood Tea is composed of roots, bark, leaves, seeds, berries, plants and flowers in different amounts, and when assembled together are put through a special treatment which gives it the great power it has over disease in the human body.

During the influenza epidemic thousands of lives might have been saved by taking Bulgarian Blood Tea steaming hot, with the juice of half a lemon, at bedtime. Men, women and children can take this pure medicine for almost any sickness. Millions of people are taking it to fight off Colds, Grippe, Influenza and Pneumonia, to sweeten the stomach, clean out the bowels, open up the liver, flush the poisons from the kidneys and purify and enrich the blood.

No medicine that we know of is as good as Bulgarian Blood Tea. It should be in every home, ready for father if he comes home with a bad cold or feels sick; mother can give it to the little children, it keeps them healthy; and mother, upon whose shoulders the trying care of the home falls, will find that this rare medicinal tea will drive away those sick headaches and keep her in good health. Go to your druggist today and ask for a box of Bulgarian Blood Tea.

POVERTY COULDN'T DIM POLLY HOPKINS SHUNSHINE

The uplift of an entire community through the faith and belief that "love is stronger than hate," on the part of one little girl plays an important part in "Polly of the Storm Country," in which Mildred Harris Chaplin will be seen in her second First National Exhibitors' Circuit attraction Tuesday, February 8, at the

"THE LOVE LIGHT"

Written and directed by Frances Marion

Driggs Theatre.

As Polly Hopkins, Mrs. Chaplin portrays the role of a girl wedged between a most sordid environment and a burning desire to create and install happiness into those about her. Obstacles that come in her way are brought about through the faithlessness of a rich woman and the cruelty of the man this woman is going to marry. Polly sees her entire family taken from her by the very people she is trying to aid. Love turns to hate.

And when the rainbow encircles the clouds over the "storm country," the hate has been superseded by love and the entire settlement is reverent to the little girl that brought peace and contentment to them.

DULUTH IMPERIAL FLOUR

WHAT IS DULUTH IMPERIAL?

DULUTH IMPERIAL FLOUR is milled from the choicest hard wheat. No other wheat equals the northern spring variety in quality and abundance of gluten or produces flour that will yield as many loaves per barrel or sack.

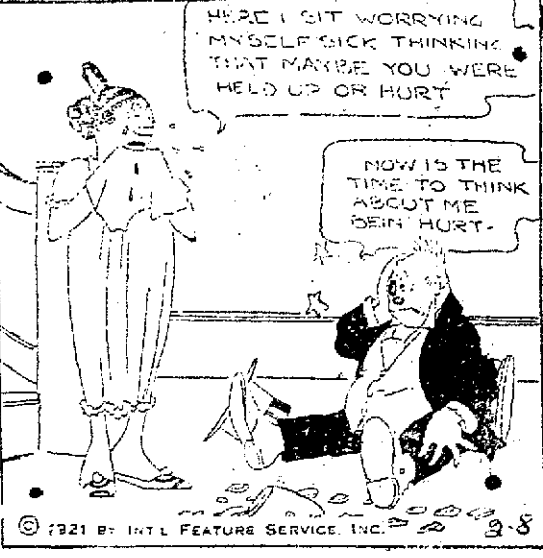

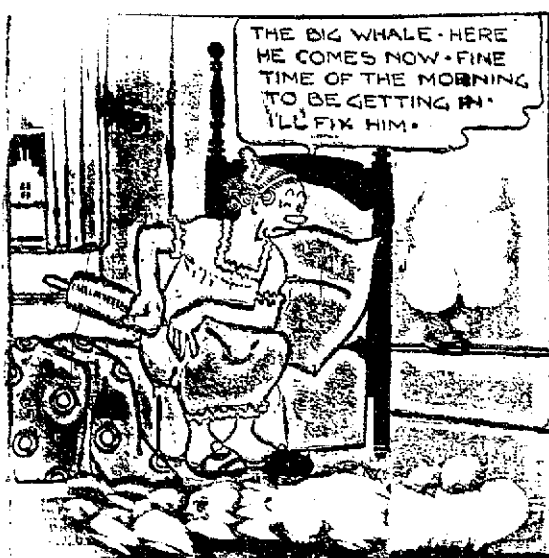

DULUTH IMPERIAL FLOUR is highly glutenous, sharp and absorbs plenty of water.

Only the choicest of the wheat berry goes into DULUTH IMPERIAL FLOUR.

WILLIAM FARNUM IN TALE OF HIDDEN GOLD

William Farnum in an entirely new sort of role is promised by advance news of "The Joyous Troublemakers," a new William Fox photodrama which is coming to the Driegs Theater February 9. But it has become a byword in the motion picture world that a new sort of role is nothing new to this versatile star.

"The Joyous Troublemakers" is a story of hidden treasure, and William Farnum plays first the youth who finds the treasure and then the man who comes back to claim his own. The treasure was hidden by Nature, not by man, and is in the bed of a river.

This all sounds very promising. Also, of course, there is a pretty love story—and the name of Louise Lovely in the cast is indication enough that this will be well acted.

Others in the cast are Henry J. Hebert, Harry Devere, G. Raymond Nye, Clarence Morgan, George Nichols, Sedley Brown, John Underhill, Harry Archer, Al Fremont, Carl Crain, Chick Leyva, Pedro DeLeon, Claire Lelorez and Molly Bishop. With such a cast one may expect abundant action, at least.

The story is by Jackson Gregory and the scenario by Charles Kenyon.

Persia Sparely Peopled.

It is easy to overrate the land of Darius and Cyrus, Amar, and Hafiz, for Persia has not nearly as many inhabitants as Mexico. Estimates differ widely and there has never been a real census, but it is possible that in a territory equal to France, Germany, the British Isles and Italy all taken together, the population does not exceed that of little Belgium. In area Persia is more than 15 times as big as Ohio, but it contains fewer than twice as many people.

Variable Tides.

On the West Australian coast the tides are so variable that it is not an uncommon sight to see vessels high and dry at their piers. In the Bay of Fundy the spring tides reach a height of 60 or 70 feet.

The Martyred Abbess.

A terrible incident was the origin of the ghost which haunts St. Oysth's priory, 12 miles southeast of Colchester, England. In the year 633 a band of Danes ravaged the neighboring country. Attacking the nunnery they led their young abbess into a wood and ordered her to worship their gods. She refused, and in spite of their efforts to terrify her into submission, the brave woman remained faithful to her creed. In a fury, the leader of the band ordered her to lay her head down to be cut off. Obeying, her head was immediately severed from her body. On one night every year the abbess revisits the scene of her martyrdom, carrying her head in her hands.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat, which clogs kidneys, then back hurts and Bladder Bothers you

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. Else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says: he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

A LETTER FROM FLORIDA

Lynn Haven, Fla.
Groundhog Day

The Progress, Clearfield, Pa.

I am writing you on a cold day, that is, cold for here, (about 42 degrees F.) for one month's subscription to your paper, as that is about as long as we will be here.

This is a community of old Union soldiers from all over the union, and as far as I know the only Union soldiers' monument south of the Mason-Dixon line is located here.

Lynn Haven is a beautiful town situated on St. Andrews Bay, east of Pensacola, and is only about ten years old. It is certainly a fine fishing and boating and bathing place. My wife and son were out, (in Gulf of Mexico) Sunday, January 23, but it was just a little cool. Sunday, January 30, the thermometer rose to 72 degrees, but Monday the wind began to blow out of the north and when that happens the sunny south loses its charm for those Northerners (as they are called) sure do make you think about a good old soft coal fire, of course we use wood here, but you have to be on the job too much with that or you don't have a fire long. I would like to see some of our "61-65" boys from Clearfield here, as there are less Pennsy "boys" here than there are from Maine.

Our peach trees were in blossom the last week and U. V. L. Comrade McSweeney, from Stoneboro, has oats more than two inches high already. The plums are in blossom now, too. We have as cute a little bungalow here as you would care to lay eyes on. It is equipped with a California cellar, which is a new one one me and I think could be utilized in the north as well as here. Our front porch is almost all shaded by trailing honeysuckle and roses and we have two kinds of oranges, figs and persimmons, holly and Spanish bayonet.

I was out fishing today with John Lee, another Stoneboro man, who is here with his wife, and got a fine big mess of sea trout, the largest of them weighing nearly four pounds.

Well, as it is getting late I will close for this time, hoping to read The Progress soon, I am,
yours truly,
ERNEST H. KOLBE.
